High school is a time of growth, a time of learning and a time of having fun. In sports activities, relations with the faculty, student life, clubs, academic studies, or class spirit, we hope to mature and make friends.

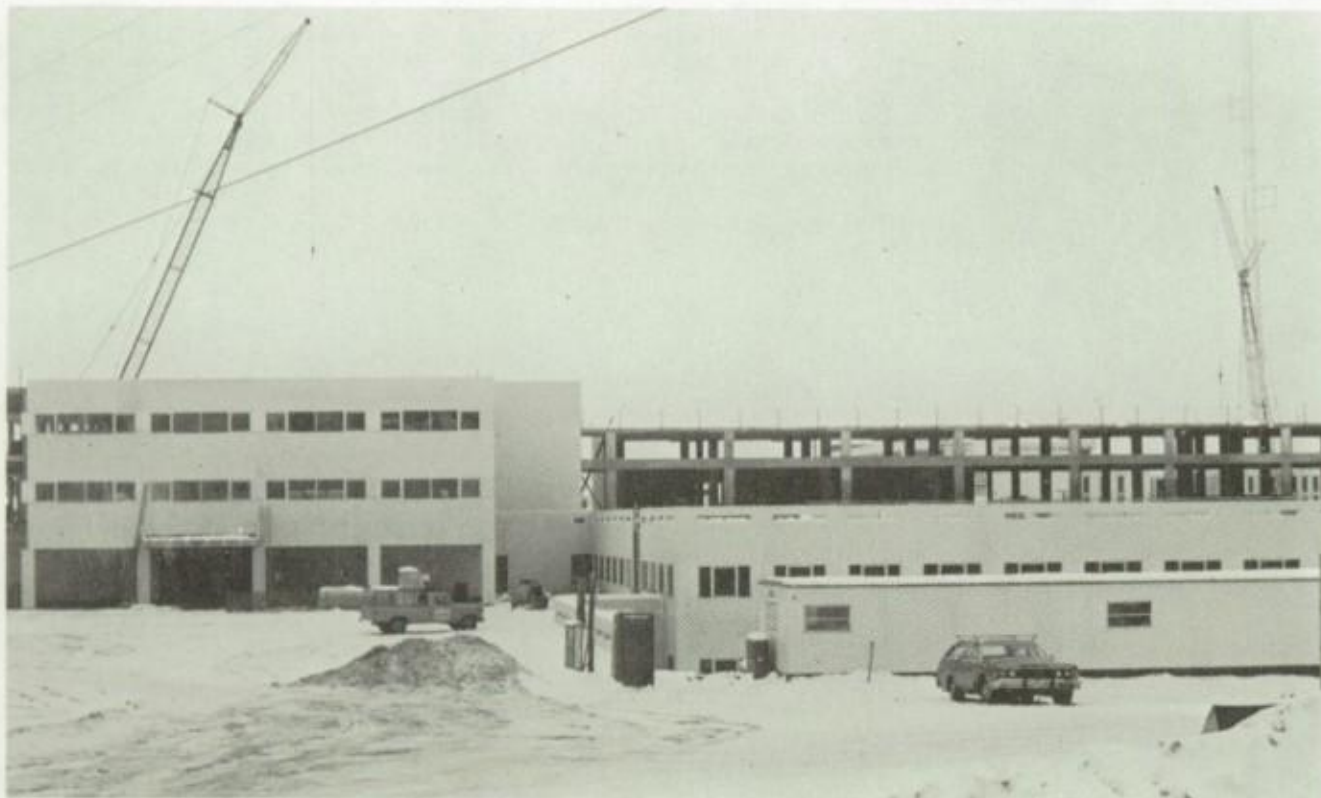

This year in the Wausau area there were many hopes for new projects. The new hospital is being built, a referendum for a new East was voted on, a downtown shopping mall was proposed, and there was tremendous growth in the community.

That is why the editors and staff of this year's Wahiscan chose to carry the theme of "high hopes" throughout East's 1977-1978 yearbook.

From the time we are born we observe the things around us, learning and forming our personalities from the things we see. The time came when we reached high school, where we take our last looks into childhood and our first looks into adulthood. We must look ahead into the future, whether it be what classes to take, or what colleges to go to. Yet in this yearbook we will look at the past, so we may remember what it was like to a high school student at Wausau East in 1977-1978.

After we have observed events in our surroundings, small ideas often form in our minds. These ideas gradually start to grow, taking up more time until we have a definite thought in mind. It is these ideas that become our goals—some are just minor but others turn into the most important thing in our lives.

For Freshmen at East, this may involve anything from finding their homeroom on the first day of school to making a Varsity sport. For Sophomores it may be not getting sick in a Biology dissection to getting their licenses. Juniors' goals may involve going to Jr. girls or getting a job. The goals of Seniors may go from turning eighteen to graduating to making it through college. But whatever our goals may be, they give us hope for things that we feel will make us happy and that will make our lives more satisfying.

1. The Wausau Area has high hopes for the new clinic, shown here, as well as the new hospital built on Wausau's west side. 2. Todd Walstrom attempted to make the Guinness Book of World Records for the amount of cafeteria food shoved in his mouth in one forkful. 3. Faced with a term paper, Laurie See could not find much comfort in the fact that she had eleven more research books to go through after she finished her first. 4. The East student body set its goals for the guys basketball team before games and showed their spirit by singing the school pledge. 5. Andy Baker looks upon his opponent with determination at the Wausau East Invitational Wrestling Meet. 6. Seniors had to set their goals for the future, and many chose to attend the University of Wisconsin Marathon campus in Wausau.

If we truly wish our dreams to come true, we cannot idly stand by, waiting for fate to take its course. After we have our goals set, we often find ourselves striving to reach them, which provides incentive for working. We may discover that trying hard is not always easy, and possibly involves some pain. It takes sacrifices, such as giving up certain foods to keep in shape for a sport, or giving up television in order to do schoolwork. But we can also gain satisfaction in the knowledge that we did give what we could towards accomplishing a feat, whatever that feat may be.

1. Rick Lee discovers that pumping iron isn't the same as pumping gas. 2. The J.V. Girls' Buckets team huddles together to get some intense coaching while fans look on. 3. Does Jeff Seefeldt think he's Superman when he puts on Dave Schultz's glasses? 4. Senior guys strain to win the tug-of-war during Wausau Eve, only to lose to the Juniors. 5. Keith Baker concentrates on his History to complete an assignment. 6. Mr. Lacina tries his hardest to please the Wausau Eve audience for the faculty skit. With legs like those, how can he lose?

Hope For

the Best

After we have looked around us, set our goals, and tried our hardest, we can only hope for the very best that can happen. Some dreams may be far fetched and the chances of them coming true very slim, but there is nothing in comparison to when and if they do come true.

We had many hopes during the 1977-78 school year. The girls' buckets team, both ski teams, the curling team, as well as individual swimmers were in state competition. Terri Streble was our Homecoming Queen and Doug Twait was Snow Prince.

A strict hall policy was put into effect and students' hopes were centered on having more freedom. Another major issue was the building of a new East high school, which caused much controversy in the community, but had much support within our student body. If our goals were reached, we could take pride in the fact that we were a part of it. If they were not, the disappointment could be lessened because we knew we did the best we could. That is what made us proud to be a part of Wausau East this year.

1. Juniors had their hopes of winning the class skit competition, and did just that their takeoff from "Saturday Night Live". 2. The East Buckets Team was cheered on by faithful fans during both good and bad times. 3. Boyd Rolloff apprehensively observes a football play from the sidelines.

STUDENT LIFE

1. Students show their spirit during a football game. 2. At a basketball game, students show mixed emotions. 3. Tophatter players Barb Pickering and Pam Paulsen sway to the music during Wausau Eve. 4. Chemistry II students mix up a batch of holiday spirit. 5. Laurie Brumblay crowns Terri Streble as 1977-78 Homecoming Queen of Wausau East. 6. Students line up along Seventh Street for the Homecoming parade.

After the classes are over, after all the academic worries are cast aside, comes the fun! Free periods, sports events, dances, Homecoming, and Winter Follies gave students time to talk, and to be themselves. At East, class competition was very strong this year, and contests between the classes were well supported. Even in fun we had the hopes of achieving something. In our extra curricular activities we hoped to have a good time with our friends, develop pride in being a part of a class, and find a release from the tension that school often brings. Yet more importantly, student life gave students a chance to express themselves, to show the pride and spirit that the student body has for East and for themselves.

Spirit and enthusiasm highlighted this year's Homecoming Parade, as cars and floats were majestically displayed to the excited onlookers and judges. Class floats were a new addition to the parade. The Sophomores caged the Panthers in hopes that the football team would also. A Hoedown was performed by the Juniors, with hay, dancers and a live fiddler. A motorcycle and a go-cart along with the brilliantly painted and decorated cars paraded around the school. Of course, El Mouldo was there to set the beat.

The Homecoming Court was: Roxanne Erickson, Deanna Reitz, Karen Schillinger, Beth Schoeneman, and Queen Terrie Streble. Despite the rain, and the football team's defeat to the Point Panthers, Homecoming spirit remained in the hearts of all.

High hopes were in many people's minds at Wausau Eve this year. The excitement of competition began with the games. People clung together in the orange passing, and cracked the whip in the scooter race. Around and around they went in the bat race, and where they ended up no one knows! The Junior guys and the Senior girls came out triumphantly in the tug-of-war.

The faculty began the skits with their version of the future. They attempted to show what may become of some students in the future. Let's hope that they're wrong! Next the Freshmen tried hard to raise spirit in the Jack-a-Thon, with such featured celebrities as Sophie Bubbles. The Sophomores constructed a bedtime story. A mother told her little daughter of the big Homecoming game win. Thursday Night Live was the winning Junior skit. The Pointheads were coached by Samuria, and SPASH became a commercial product. Snow White and the eleven dwarfs was the Senior skit. It featured a lot of thrown pies at people including Mr. Crubaugh.

The emcees were Brenda Bolte and Scott Reynolds as Donny and Marie Osmond. At the end of the evening Terrie Streble was crowned Homecoming Queen by last year's Queen Laurie Brumblay. All in all Homecoming was a big success!

1977-78 was a year of rebuilding and a year of firsts for East's Jazz Ensemble, the Tophatters. With the addition of 11 new members, the 22 member group devoted much time to developing talents and techniques.

After 37 years, the group saw many changes. Most notably the addition of many girl members. Under the leadership of student director Betsy Brenton, the first girl leader, Tophatters contained the greatest number of girls in its history, including an all-girl trumpet section.

The group began rehearsing in August and performed in Wausau Eve. The members participated in the Jazz Workshop at Green Bay in January, where they received high ratings. The ensemble performed at their annual show January 29th to a crowd of over 1200. They also performed at the Shriners Convention and at Horace Mann. Tryouts were held in May for the six positions vacated by Senior members, Betsy Benton, Carl Christenson, Brain Dederich, Nora Fitzgerald, Terry Streble and Todd Walstrom.

Snow Spree at East brightened up the dragging winter spirit. Valentine's Day began the festivities with the surprise receiving of the love, friendship, secret admirer and popular hate carnations. Classes worked hard together to sculpt dogs and doghouses in the snow. People were wheelbarrowed, shoveled, and grew an extra leg in the snow games. Doug Twait was chosen Sno Prince to reign over the activities. Gong show acts were another part of the celebration. Phil Lohmeier won first place, and Jim Nick and the Vincentsen Singers came in second and third respectively. Though some of the acts were gonged, Snow Spree was not!

This year's fall play was "The Butler Did It", which ran on December second and third, 1977. The play was a detective comedy about a society hostess who gives a houseparty for mystery writers in her manor house located on mysterious Turkey Isle. Although Miss Maple had planned mysterious activities, the unplanned murder of one visitor marked all of them for death and sets them on the trail of the murderer. The three act play was written by Tim Kelly, and directed by Ms. Fran Vaux as well as student director Ann Dudley.

Spring Play Is "Star Trek"

On April 7 and 8, Wausau East experienced a new idea in theater. "Star Trek" was the result of much hard work on the part of the five actors and the stage crew. These students wrote a script, designed sets, sold tickets, and helped to direct the original play. The five actors played the parts of the people living in the thirty-first century. They decide that they will re-create a twentieth century T.V. show. They choose "The Trouble With Tribbles" episode of "Star Trek". Director Rob Hankins came up with the "Star Trek" idea because he has long been a fan of the show.

Many people have their own special memories of December 28, the night of Wausau East's annual Junior Girls Dance. The dance was held at the Wausau Club from 8:00-12:00, with Full Sail playing the music. "You Light Up My Life," the popular song by Debby Boone was the theme. The Band Boys played the polkas at the afterparty, at the school gym, from 1:00-3:00. Thought the night air outside was cold, all were warm inside, and enjoyed the evening.

This year's city wide prom was held at the Wausau West Fieldhouse on May 6, 1978. With the theme of "Southern Nights," the decorations included a running water fountain, wall murals, and porch swings hanging from the ceiling. During the formal dance from 8:00-12:00, "Full Sail" gave their last performance as a group. The after party, held at the Wausau Club from 1:00-3:15 A.M. was sponsored by the Lion's Club. Activities included a gambling casino, live band, and refreshments.

As with most large groups of people, special interest groups develop in schools, and take the form of clubs and organizations. Why do students join them? Some hope to expand their knowledge or talents in an area they are interested in, some want to help people—whether it be in the country, community, or within school—and some join in hopes of meeting people. Clubs are formed in the hopes of achieving one certain goal, and are an important way for students to voice their opinions in school affairs.

Choir Crescendos to New Heights

The 1977-1978 Concert Choir had a satisfying year. New vocal experiments and traditional musical arrangements made the year's concerts very exciting. For better acoustics, the mid-winter concert was presented in the assembly hall. It was special to the choir because it was probably the last concert ever to be held in that hall. Aside from the three concerts, individuals also participated in the state Solo and Ensemble Contests.

After losing thirteen of last year's sixteen members, Camerata had a rebuilding year. Despite the lack of experience, the group was doing a remarkable job by the time of the pop show.

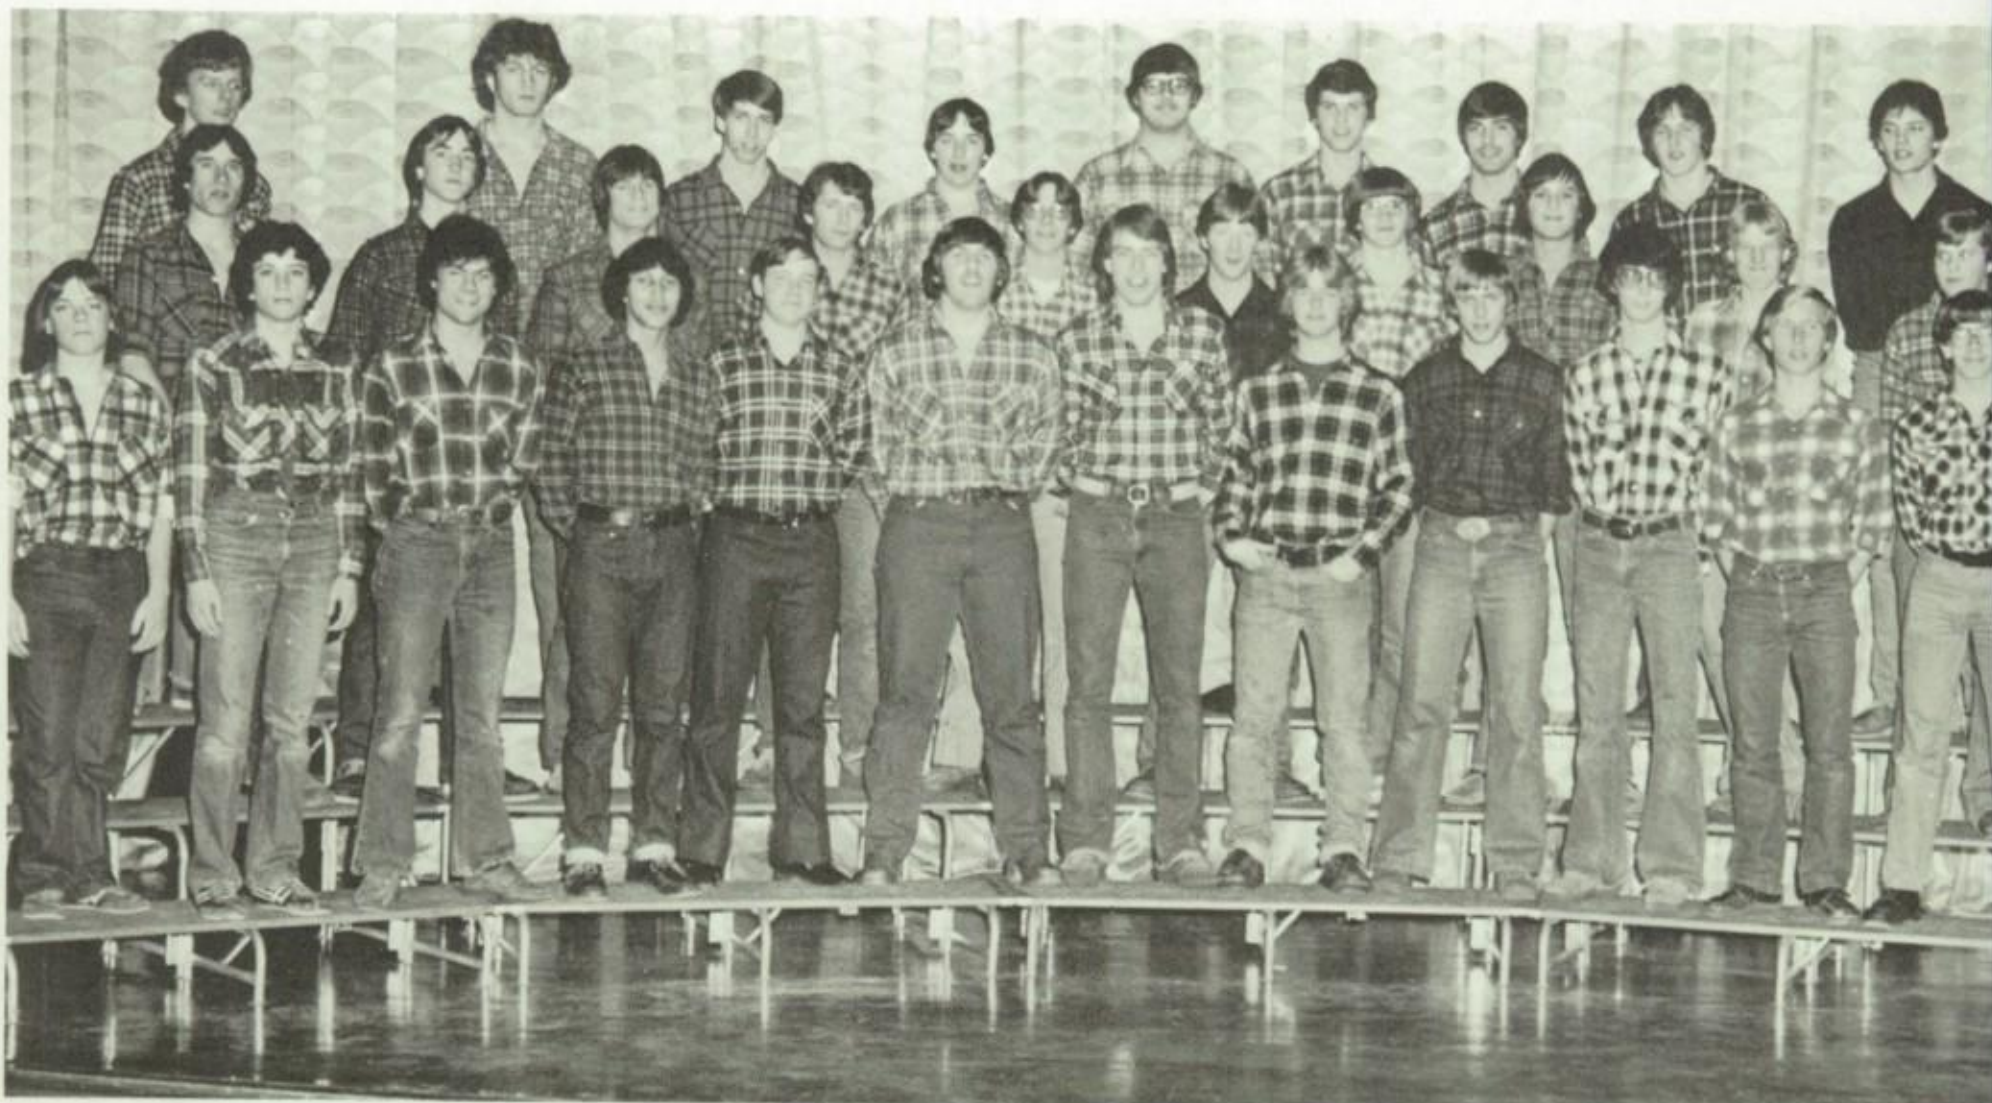

Jeff Krause expresses his extreme joy in the concert choir's progress.

This year two new singing groups were added to the music program at Wausau East. Last year's Treble and Freshman choirs combined to form the all-girl Treble choir. Also, an all-male chorus, the Woodsmen, was started. This experiment brought much success. Both groups participated in three concerts along with the Wisconsin Solo and Ensemble Contest. They performed a combination of sacred, classical, and pop music. A special highlight of the pop concert was the Woodsmen's musical, "Moby!"

This year's symphonic band was a melodius mixture of Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors. Its student leader was Senior Carl Christenson. The musical season began with the annual Christmas concert, which featured both traditional and modern pieces. As the winter wore on monotony was broken by a February chili supper and concert. The money raised was used for summer scholarships. Spring found the band busy with many activities including the Wisconsin Solo and Ensemble Contest, and a study trip to Madison.

This year's marching band was full of pep. Many fine programs were given at half-time during the football games. Dressed in their sharp blue uniforms, they marched onto the field under the direction of student leader Carl Christenson. Selections played included pop tunes such as "Rock Around The Clock" and "Bandstand Boogie". Much credit is also owed to band director Frank Brenton.

The annual Christmas concert was the freshmen band students first chance to perform in high school. They also performed at the spring and chili supper concerts. Most of this year's band students also had the chance of playing for girl's state basketball tournament where the East girls lost, but the band played on.

Students also participated individually in the Wisconsin Solo and Ensemble Contests. The year was an enjoyable one for all.

Dear Wausau East High School People,

I have been meeting many of you since last September. Since then you have shared with me your knowledge, your friendship, your great moments and your "not-too-great" moments.

I have learned all I could from you. My experiences here have been some of the greatest in my life so far.

Maybe there were several times when I was not very friendly, but the same goes for you. This is part of my learning and teaching process though. Ya, it is also a teaching process because I try to be "sort of" a normal boy from Costa Rica. Do not think that everyone is exactly like me, but I am average.

This year is almost gone, and believe me, it is running quite fast. Soon, I will be in Costa Rica in another part of my life, but you will be with me through all you have been and all you are. This is true for students as well as teachers and friends.

Hey, you guys! I hope we'll meet again. Thank you very much.

Your friend,
Isidro

Exchange Students

"Thank you, AFS, you brought me here and gave so much. Keep the program up."

Sue Wilcott, East's 1978 exchange student, has been attending a small college on the North Island of New Zealand since February 1978. She plans to stay there until February 1979, taking general courses at the college and spending her free time out in the sun. During her visit she will live with four different families, spending three months with each in order to gain a more well-rounded view of New Zealand life. Sue is sponsored by the Wausau Rotary Club.

Student Publications "Press" On

Beginning work in August, members of both East publications spent many long hours preparing the newspaper and yearbook. Under Editor-in-Chief Nora Fitzgerald, the SKYROCKET assumed a new format that provided readers with a broader scope of school and community news. Under Editor Tisha Bauman, the WAHISCAN allowed students to display their talents in a variety of areas, including writing, photography, and design. To raise money for the yearbook, the staff sponsored a polka dance and added a Patron's section to the annual. Members of the publications were honored at the end of the year, with several students qualifying for Quill and Scroll Honors. This organization was designed to honor the most dedicated students. Although work has ended for this year, both staffs are busy preparing for next year and have high hopes for continued success.

The 1977-78 season proved to be a learning experience for the young East Debate team. Under second-year coach, Miss Kay McNeight, the varsity team of Nora Fitzgerald, Pam Paulsen, Randy O'Conner, and Tony Sherfinski had an up and down season, taking first at the Rhinelander Invitational and compiling only a 3 - 3 record at Districts. The J.V. team of Bruce Backer, John Klug, Liz Patterson, and Karen Poppe compiled a winning record. Two strong novice teams, consisting of four freshmen, three sophomores and a senior, proved to be successful debaters. Losing only three seniors through graduation, the team has high hopes for continued success next season. With 13 students receiving A - ratings at the Sub-District contest, the Forensics team made strong showings in the following District and State contests. Participants also attended a special school contest and a Russian dinner hosted by head coach Mr. Yasha Dalheimer. Members of the debate team instituted an award for the "Most Valuable" member of the team. This year Nora Fitzgerald and Pam Paulsen shared the honor.

Under the leadership of President Katie Houghton, the Student Forum proved to be much more active than in past years. Activities began with the institution of a Welcoming Committee and the election of Homeroom Representatives. Members also participated in an exchange with Wausau West and sponsored Snow Spree '78 to raise money for an all-school assembly. The group was also active in the campaign for the passage of the April referendum and gave tours of the building to area residents. Houghton was aided by the efforts of Vice-President Jim Simpson, Secretary-Treasurer Sue Luedtke, and School Board Representative John Klug. Although the officers were elected in the spring of 1977, Simpson did not take office until November because he was elected to fill the post vacated by Vicky Vangalis. Delegates to Badger State learned about government through both classroom activities and mock elections. Nora Fitzgerald, Delegate to Girl's State in Madison, was elected Mayor of her city. Boy's State citizens Jeff Seefeldt and Dave Schultz were both elected Sheriff, while Al Wenzel served as Assistant State Superintendent of Schools.

Clubs Bring Other

Although it can sometimes be difficult, the study of a second language is a memorable and rewarding experience for high school students. This is especially true if this study is not only pursued during class time but also in organizations after school. At East, there are two such organizations: The Foreign Language Club and the Spanish National Honor Society. The Foreign Language Club, in its first year at East, combined the former French, German and Spanish clubs into one big organization open to all language students. This larger group enabled students to participate in activities demonstrating the similarities and differences between the foods, customs and musics of the three countries whose languages they were learning. The Spanish National Honor Society is composed only of specially selected third- and fourth-year Spanish students. This year it sponsored a dance to raise a scholarship to be presented to student who plans to continue his or her study of Spanish in college.

There were two experiences which were shared by most of East's students this year that will be remembered in the future for the enjoyable ways they taught us about other cultures. The first event, East's second annual Foreign Language Day, seemed more like a celebration than a learning experience. At the French, Spanish and German tables one could try all kinds of delicious foods from luscious crepes to spicy tacos to tasty potato pancakes. Or, one could bid in a pinata auction, learn a French folk dance with Madame /or polka with Herr Immel. Everyone there had a good time. The second experience was Isidro's stay in Wausau, which was sponsored by the American Field Service, a group dedicated to promoting friendship between young people of different countries. In 1977-1978, East's AFS chapter helped arrange Isidro's School-wide presentation and raised funds by holding a dance and several bake sales.

The Biology Club and the Mu Alpha Theta Club offered many golden opportunities to those students who wanted to pursue their studies of science or math through a more informal, less traditional approach outside of the classroom. Under Mr. Mann's direction, Biology Club members were able to learn more about the science of life through the photography of cells under a microscope. These photographs were later utilized to classify and identify other organisms. East High School's chapter of Mu Alpha Theta, with Jack Baumer as president and Patricia Hedblom as advisor, undertook several bake sales and a roving car wash to raise scholarship money for a student in the organization. Members were able to take part in an energy simulation game presented by a member of the University of Wisconsin's faculty and could also attend social activities sponsored by the club.

The Ski Club is one of East's most popular sports clubs, particularly because Wausau is a city that offers its skiers two local ski areas to do their stuff at. However, Ski Club members like to take advantage of a variety of ski resorts, not only those close at hand. In previous years they have traveled to resorts in Upper Michigan and other parts of Wisconsin, but this year had high hopes of going out of state to a ski area in the Rocky Mountains. Unfortunately, the club was not able to earn enough money to do this, so has set aside its plans until another year. The Rod and Gun club was back on its feet this year after a one-year slump in participation. Here the club's members are seen perfecting their fishing techniques before their spring fishing trip to some of Wisconsin's clear northern lakes and rivers. The club is under the direction of Mr. Peeters.

Helping out by working in the school administration can be a useful and beneficial activity as the Attendance Office Aids and the Health Aids have both discovered. Under the direction of Mrs. Statezny, the Attendance Aids assisted in putting together the school absentee lists daily and also helped fill out and deliver notices to homerooms. During the rest of the day they made out tardy passes, inside passes and outside passes for students who needed them. The Health Aids helped the school in a different way from the Attendance Aids. Each period one could see at least two Aids in the Nurse's office caring for students who were hurt or ill. Although they could not give out any medication, they assisted by dispensing simple first aid and by attending to the Nurse's office when she had to leave it.

Clubs at East gave students opportunities to study the world of future professions. Members of DECA (Distribution Education Club of America) worked in the Jack Shack as clerks and were in charge of taking inventory in the store and of restocking its shelves in order to further their understanding of business management and marketing. They attended Leadership Labs and state-wide skill competitions to improve their business abilities, progressing to the Regional and State level of standing. For a volunteer project they delivered Easter baskets to patients in the Old Pediatrics section of Wausau Hospital North. The Library Aides helped out in the school library by putting books and magazines back on the shelves, taking charge of the Reserve Room when a librarian wasn't present and typing up overdue notices.

Students Prepare for Future

Future occupations in the areas of office work and agriculture were explored by students in two diverse clubs. Members of FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) participated in contests against other FBLA chapters, demonstrating their excellent business skills by advancing to the state contest. Money was raised to fund the club's traveling expenses through the selling of candles and through the sponsoring of a record hop. The FBLA also donated its earnings from the candy machines in the school cafeteria to a business scholarship. In the FFA Club (Future Farmers of America), agriculture students were able to learn much about the various aspects of farming as well as take part in many enjoyable social activities. To raise money for their numerous enterprises, FFA members busied themselves with having a fruit sale, a cheese sale and with sponsoring East's Homecoming dance.

At the season's end, a team consisting of Linda Krueger, Debbie Passow, Sue Krueger and Judy Bootz received bowling's First Place trophy for their 24-4 game record, while Linda Krueger took home the Highest Individual Game Series trophy for her two-game score of 313 points. GAA also tried something new this year by combining its volleyball program with that of Intramurals. The result was East's first coed intramural volleyball tournament. Occurring at the same time was the boys' Intramural basketball competition in which the First Division Title was eventually captured by BFU and the Second Division Title was taken by the Doobies. Bench Control is composed of the non-playing basketball team. Its members kept spirits and morale up by supporting the team and leading cheers during games.

Two traditionally male activities, LETTERWINNERS Club, and KEY Club, opened their ranks to qualified females during the 77-78 school year. After several years of debate and planning, the LETTERWINNERS Club became coed, and admitted both girls and guys who had won letters in sports at East. The Key Club, under the leadership of Phil Ritger, admitted its first girl member after several weeks of debate. A junior branch of the Kiwanis Club, the Key Club engaged in several service activities and also engaged in activities with their father organization. Another city organization, the Rotary Club, sponsored the UTHROTAR program in which representatives from the senior classes of area high schools attend weekly club meetings. Twelve senior boys were chosen by the faculty and guidance department to represent East this year.

Wausau East has traditionally set a standard of excellence in sports, whether it be in sportsmanship, effort, or ability. It was this standard, along with the hope of helping their team to be the best in the area, that brought many students out for sports. They knew that it would take hard work, and many sacrifices to achieve that goal of being the best. Yet they also knew that the friends, the coaching, and the satisfaction of trying their hardest and perhaps winning, made it all worthwhile.

She placed sixth out of 116 runners in the Wausau Invitational, second at Loyal, third at Antigo, and eighth in both conference and regionals. Tina Streble and Marla Viergutz were the team's biggest "surprises". The girls won the city meet, the Shawano Invitational, and placed third in the conference. All totalled they beat fifty teams, and lost to seventeen.

Mike Schroeder was the boy's top runner, followed by Rich Baptist and Greg Knapp, who was the most outstanding runner. The team was fifth at regionals, while Mike placed eleventh. The team was made up of mostly underclassmen.

Boys' B.B. Has Rebuilding Season

The Conference championship and a trip to state: Two firsts for our remarkable Girls' Basketball team. They won the conference in an exciting showdown with an ever strong Marshfield team. They gained the sectional title with an incredible finish by defeating the same team, and overcoming a 10 point deficit with only two minutes left in the game. Although defeated in their first quarter-final game by a powerful Beloit team and a case of the fieldhouse jitters, we will always be proud of our 1978 champions.

With only one returning letterman, Karl Kramer, it was a rebuilding year for the 1977-78 Jacks. In spite of a win loss record of 6-13, they played exciting competitive basketball. The team showed steady improvement throughout the season as young players got an opportunity to polish their skills. Although a number of teams were superior in size and experience our Lumberjacks never gave up the fight.

A lack of depth hurt the swim teams this year, but strong individual talent made up for it. The boys had a conference record of 6-3, and an overall record of 7-4, while the girls were 3-7. The boys placed third in the conference and fifth out of thirteen teams at sectionals. The highpoint of their season, according to Coach Westlund, who came to their aid in the middle of the season, was their victory against Eau Claire North and Eau Claire Memorial in a triangular meet. Mike and Mark Timken, Scott Olson, and Scott Reynolds were consistent high scorers.

Scott Olson set a new school record in diving, and placed eleventh at the State meet. Mike Timken, a freshman, was sixteenth in the 200 yard Individual Medley and seventeenth in the 100 yard freestyle at State. He also broke two school records.

The girls were seventh out of fourteen teams at sectionals. Two girls went on to State, Beth Schoeneman and Sandy Hoff. Beth came in thirteenth in the 200 yard Individual Medley and Sandy was twenty-first in the 50 yard freestyle. The team did quite well for being over half underclassmen.

leadership ability. The team earned a record of 3-6-1, and placed seventh out of ten teams in the conference. Kathleen Whaley advanced to sectionals on the balance beam. The team had only three Seniors: Lori Bliese, Lynn Filiatreux, and Judy Mortenson.

The Wausau East Ski Team had an excellent year, taking home both boys and girls state trophies. The teams started off a little shakey. It took until the Camp 10 Invitational before the guys took their first first place. The girls placed second at several meets, but never won a race. East got it together on February 27th, for the Wisconsin

State Ski Championships, held at Rib Mountain. The Lumberjacks swept first place for both boys and girls. The boys took first in all three events, while the girls took first in giant slalom and slalom, and second in downhill. Bill Grabel placed first overall for the boys while Sara Knutson placed second for the girls.

The team came in fifth at its own Wausau East Invitational. There were very few injuries to deal with, except a couple broken hands. Mike Faehling was chosen as most improved wrestler. Andy Baker had the most pins. Brian Crowley had the most wins, the quickest pin, and voted the most valuable wrestler.

Tennis Players Swing On

The girls tennis team had a record of 8-1, losing only to Marshfield, and placing second in the conference. The girls did quite well considering that most meets were away, and the weather was cold, it even snowed. It was a season of experimentation and switching around of positions. Patty Breitzman played a consistent No. 1 singles, while the other players did a lot of rotating. The team received coaching help from members of the boys team, and also got new warm-ups for the season.

The boys were a competitive team with returning letterwinners; Gritzmacher, Simpson, and Gleason, and strong upcomers; Sharer, Gustafson, and Tompach. The team had good balance from the large amount of good freshmen. To their advantage the first six dual meets were at home and strong No. 5 and 6 positions were maintained.

Looking toward a tough season, head Coach Torresani felt that inexperience, especially at pitching, was the main downfall of the Lumberjacks Varsity Baseball team. The Jacks had eleven players returning from last year's team, but the only returning pitcher who saw much action last season was Junior Mark England. Seven of the other returning lettermen were Seniors. Coach Torresani was pleased with the teams hitting record, but was concerned with the club's quickness. East was in one of the toughest conferences in the state for baseball, and unfortunately the team failed to have the season they hoped for. Assistant coaches were Mr. Havlish and Mr. Frederick.

East Golfers Do

The Lumberjack's girls golf team had an excellent year, concluding the regular season with an overall record of 10-0-1. The team took first place at WIAA Regionals, and in a sudden death tiebreaker, missed going to state by one stroke at the WIAA Sectionals. Varsity golfers were: Cindy Brister, Marsha Pekar, Debbie Bolte, Mary Buntrock, Shari Spies, Vickie Hotchkiss and Julie Hotchkiss. The team was coached by Mr. Martin. All the golf team members will be back next year, except for Senior Cindy Brister.

The Wausau East Boys Golf Team is looking forward to a great season. It should be one of the strongest teams in the conference. The 20 boys out for the team should be paced by Steve Zelich, Eric Tillisch, Craig Kuhary and Rob Peters, last year's letter winners. The team is coached by Mr. Lang.

The boy's track team came on strong in their indoor season. They placed third in both the Torresani Relays and the Warrior Invitational, and fourth in the Valley Conference Indoor Meet. The Mile Relay team of Campbell, Graefe, Moore, and Seefeldt always placed well and so did the hurdlers, Jack Baumer and Don Kiey.

The highlights of the girl's indoor season, was winning the triangular against West and Newman, and, placing second at the Warrior Invitational. The 880 Relay team, consisting of Lynn Paschek and Sharon, Karen and Gloria Berens was undefeated so far, and the milers, Linda Streble and Sarah Knutson could always be counted on.

The purpose of every school is to educate their students and prepare them for the future. Yet this could not be done without the wisdom, patience, and guidance of the faculty. The relationship between the students and faculty is an essential part of the learning experience, and at East we are particularly fortunate to have a relaxed and friendly atmosphere between teachers and students, yet one in which students can make the most of their academic abilities. Yet changes were made to improve the quality of education. Students in the halls were again a problem, and because of the fires set in school, a strict hall policy reinstated. A move was also made to put all students back in study halls over the next few years.

Striving to Learn

With all of the time that we devote to our sports, clubs, and other activities, it may seem that we are forgetting the reason that we are all here - to learn. Although most of us will forget a substantial amount of the facts that we learn, we will continue to benefit from what we learn about ourselves. Growing as a person in your understanding and developing the ability to reason, helps us to think rationally and logically and thus handle the problems of every day; this is the most important part of our high school education.

Math and Science help us to develop a logical, rational approach to problems. In math we learn to organize our thought processes to solve number problems. Science gives us an understanding of the world and the creatures and forces in contact with it.

The Arts help us in our personal expression through the use of vehicles other than just language. The practical arts and job experience programs provide training that will be applied directly in students' lives. Home Ec., Industrial Arts, Agriculture classes, Typing, and Drivers' Ed. provide students with valuable skills that will be continually useful whether in jobs, hobbies, or both.

We all must have the ability to express ourselves to survive in today's world, and the study of English and Foreign Language increase our ability to do so clearly and creatively. The broad range of language courses offers us the chance to broaden our range of communication. Physical education not only helps to prepare us physically but helps us in working with people, which is a major goal of education.

Annual Ledger 1977-78

Coal Strike Hurts Economy

The strike by the United Mine Workers, now in its record third month, is putting many areas of the U. S. in turmoil. According to U. S. News & World Report dwindling supplies of coal have already prompted cutbacks of electric power in the Midwest and Atlantic coast states, bringing scattered layoffs, school closings, and shortened workweeks.

President Carter has declared two states, Ohio and Indiana, energy disaster states. Indiana has already put into effect mandatory conservation measures, and Ohio is expected to follow suit. Totally cut off are so-called dispensable services, such as recreational facilities and outdoor lighting. Schools have been curtailed 50%, while commercial and industrial customers are cut by 25% and homeowners by 15%.

As the prospects worsened, President Carter made the decision to involve himself in the labor negotiations, something which has not been done since the 1960's. He asked that the UMW and coal operator's resume talks at the White House. Carter said of the collective bargaining: "If it does not (work), then I will have no choice but to resort to stronger measures."

Carter's Popularity Gradually Lowers

Recently, a number of nation-wide surveys were taken to find out what the public thinks of President Carter and the job he is doing. According to those polls, his performance as president is lacking.

In the New York Times-CBS survey, released in April, only 46% of the people polled think he is performing well. A Harris'-ABC poll shows 43% approval, although it is up from 36% earlier this year. The Iowa Poll rates Carter at 45% compared to 80% one year ago. This drop in popularity was exceeded only by Richard Nixon in his last year in office, during the Watergate scandal.

There have been many reasons given as to why Carter's performance isn't what it should be. Some people say he has problems in persuading the public to follow him. Others say that he is trying to do too many things at one time and not getting any results - The Middle East, energy, taxes, the coal strike, inflation, and the farm problem.

Another problem noted is that the President still lacks experience. He came into office as an outsider who didn't know how things worked, so it has taken him that much longer to get things going.

Congress can also be blamed for some of this because it is more rebellious and disorganized than ever, and often unwilling to support Carters policies.

Loved Celebrities Who Died

This last year saw the deaths of some of the best loved American entertainers.

The man who has been called "the King of Rock 'n Roll," Elvis Presley, died of a heart ailment on August 16, 1977. During his career he sold more records than any other performer (500 million) and made some 30 movies, largely as promotions for his music.

Shortly afterward, one of America's most original and irreverent comics, a celebrated champion of ad-lib and insult, Groucho (Julius) Marx died at the age of 86 on August 20, 1977 of pneumonia in Los Angeles.

On October 14, 1977, world famous American popular singer and screen actor, Bing (Harris Lillis) Crosby died. During his 50 year career the baritone-voiced crooner made 850 recordings and sold more than 300 million copies including the top selling single of all time, White Christmas. He made 70 movies and won an academy award for his performance in Going My Way. Crosby also appeared in a series of classic comedy "Road" films with Bob Hope. An avid golfer and sponsor of his own golf tournament, Bing Crosby died of a heart attack on a golf course outside of Madrid, Spain.

Will Geer, most recently know as Grandpa Walton on the television series "The Waltons" died in Los Angeles on May 1, 1978 of heart disease.

And Senator Hubert Horatio Humphrey died on January 13, 1978 at the age of 66 of cancer. Tributes poured in from around the world and his body was flown to Washington D.C. to lie in state in the Capitol Rotunda. Mr. Humphrey had a long political career as Minnesota Senator, Vice-President, and two time democratic presidential nominee.

New East is Major Issue

Work on the April 4 referendum began over a year ago with the selection of an architectural firm to design the facility. Initially, about 44 firms were contacted about the project, and were asked to fill out a questionnaire prepared for them. The Board of Education received roughly 41 responses to the questionnaire which surveyed the firms. From the responses, the Board was able to narrow the selection process down to about six firms. Each firm was then questioned in an hour long interview. Energy use was an important criterion, and because of the amount of research involved, it took a long time to present it to the people.

In the summer of 1977, the Board chose Orput Associates, Inc. of Brookfield, Wisconsin for assistance in the project. This firm was chosen because of their versatility in design and previous experience in construction of schools.

Headed by Alden E. Orput, Kenneth C. Kurtz, and Lawson T. Rennie, the design team was organized to cover every angle of the project: architects, planners, and engineers.

During October, the firm set up a mini-office in the English Resource Center, to allow the community to take a more active part in planning the school. As a result, the design team met with teachers, students and area residents to determine space requirements for their initial plans.

The firm introduced the "progressive instruction concepts," which suggested that the project's budget focus on the requirements of each subject area. The proposed school was designed to be functional for a period of 80 to 100 years and to house 1300 to 1500 students. The building was designed so that additions could be made because, according to Alden E. Orput, "you have to be able to add on because people's judgement is altered by events."

The plans, presented to the faculty committee on October 17, represented the combination of ideas and concepts suggested to them. Of the concepts suggested, the two most popular were the ag. shop and workable windows.

The plans centered around what firm officials considered to be the most economical solution-transferring the middle school to East, razing its old section and constructing a high school. Firm officials sought the solution that would provide the community with the most school for the money. Since intensive remodeling would be needed to convert East into a first-rate high school, the firm opted for the solution that would utilize the newer sections of East as a middle school and would require less expensive remodeling.

Plans for remodeling the middle school centered around the addition of partitions and new walls to alter room size, razing the old section and construction of a six lane 25 meter swimming pool.

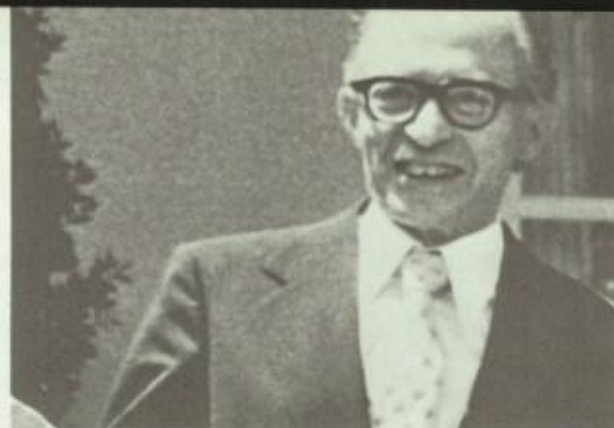

Although not as large as West, the proposed high school facility would still have contained many of the same features, such as a fieldhouse, and related departments located next to each other.

In December, board members read into the record an initial resolution stating that it intended to sell $10,890,000 in bonds for a proposed new East. Official action to adopt the resolution was taken January 10, 1978. Later, a bonding consultant was assigned to the project and the date for the referendum was set for April 4, 1978.

In late January, a citizens committee, called Wausau Citizens for Good Schools (WAGS), was formed to promote the school issue. The committee campaigned with a most fervent intensity until April. However, voters defeated the referendum by roughly 1700 votes. A little over a week later, the Board voted to raze the old section of East in a very controversial action.

Board members defended their actions, claiming that they wanted to take some stand to alleviate the problems caused by East side facilities. They no longer were willing to be liable for the well-being of students housed there.

Several alternatives were considered for use in replacing space lost by the destruction of the 1890 section. The two major alternatives, placing portables at East and sending all students to West on split shifts were the center of long debate, with portables winning out in both the student election held by the Forum and the School Board's final decision.

The board also decided to hold a series of three public hearings to determine public sentiment on the school issue. The Hearings were scheduled for May and June.

After they were held, the Board planned to take public input from the hearings into consideration when deciding their next steps on long range planning for the district.

Sadat and Begin Meet in Israel

History was made on November 26, 1977, when President Anwar Sadat of Egypt visited Israel to advance the two countries quest for peace. In squabbles and wars over land, the two countries had been bitter enemies in the past, and it was the first official visit to Israel by an Arab since the Jewish state was created in 1948. In the bold, unexpected step, Israel and Egypt have broken their diplomatic stalemate, adding a hopeful new dimension to peace in the Middle East.

Though the purpose of the meeting was not to sign a separate peace between the two countries, it at least leaves the road open for future negotiations.

Sadat's visit not only recognized Israel as a state, but also recognized Jerusalem as its capital, something not even the Americans would do. It was a brave venture for the Egyptian president and a historic welcome for the Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin and the Israeli people.

Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors—each class from '78 to '81 considers itself special, and will continue to do so throughout its four years of high school. The bond that forms between the members of the same class is one that they will feel and remember long after they graduate.

What would East be without class competition? The class spirit was so strong that at times it was hard to keep in mind that we had to be united as a school as well. During Homecoming, pep assemblies, and Winter Follies, each class strove to show they were the best. Freshmen continued to be picked on and Seniors got senioritis once again, yet it was all a part of the 1977-78 school year at East.

Dresses or pants? Cut-offs or Levi's? Those were the earth shaking questions that faced us as we anxiously waited for our first day in high school, and it was pretty scary. We were inexperienced then and even went to the study halls we were in, but our "great expectations" had something to do with the days when we would get out of them. Sophomore year was a time of growth, of turning 16 and getting jobs. Though Driver's Ed. drove us crazy, most of us got our licenses anyway. We found themes in our literature and learned about writing expositionally. It was not until our Junior year that we were able to enjoy all the benefits of being upperclassmen, especially the release from study halls. We covered a "broad area" in history and "drowned" in American Literature and Advanced Composition. Our moments at Jr. Girls' were "precious and few" but since prom was "just for us," it didn't matter. Then came our Senior year—being the leaders and having our own Queen, Terri Streble were great experiences for us. Applying to colleges and trying to figure out what to do after graduation were pretty scary. Politics became a science and Trigonometry made us analytical. We finally got a showcase for the Log and then we lost the game. We planned our graduation ceremonies, and prepared for our final finals. Graduation—all the things that face us. Funny, it seems like only four years ago all we had to worry about was what to wear.

Can we ever forget our Junior year? It was the first year we were able to enjoy the benefits of being upperclassmen. Study halls were out, picking our gym electives was in, and we finally were one of the first to sign up for classes. And can anything match the togetherness we felt when we won the skit competition on Wausau Eve? Then there was the turmoil for months over Jr. Girls - who to ask or whether to say yes, and it all finally fell into place on December 28th. We all had or got our driver's licenses, many of us got jobs, and with that we found new freedom. These events made our class, the largest since East and West split, ready to move on to our senior year - as the class of '79!

1. Juniors at pep assembly. 2. Linda Ruse, Kathy Roberts, and Kris Koester, decide to hold class outside...without the teacher. 3. Junior Enthusiasm! 4. Just one more year.

SOPHOMORES '80

Study halls, Biology and Drivers Ed were all part of an exciting year for sophomores. Showing the enthusiasm of students who are still fairly new to the high school experience, East sophs went after new goals with gusto, making the transition from freshmen to sophomore with ease. Sophomores now look forward to two more exciting years at Wausau East.

At the beginning of this year, sophs were still wet behind the ears, having had only one year of high school behind them. However, by the end of this year, after getting jobs, drivers licenses, and passing grades in Biology, they are ready to tackle the challenge of being Juniors next year.

Our life as high school freshmen was often terrifying and embarrassing. Many of us found ourselves suddenly seized while in the cafeteria and given the choice (if we were lucky) of singing the "Star Spangled Banner", or pushing a penny down the hall with our noses before an audience of upperclassmen. Some of us who were somewhat undersized, sometimes found ourselves dangling by our collars from a coatrack or light fixture. Then there was the humility of the first pep assembly and the Wausau Eve skits, when all we could do was cringe under the laughs of the upperclassmen. Yet it was all a part of initiation into Wausau East, and we now can laugh too. For as the year progressed, we grew to be as much a part of the school as everyone else, with as much pride and spirit.

1. Penny Hysell shows the traditional school practice while singing the pledge. 2. Kristy O'Flying, Melanie Lau, and Denise Muelver practice their pom pon routines. 3. Julie Bedessem and Julie Atarian take a break between classes. 4. Paul Gustafson is taken by surprise. 5. Freshmen class officers: President Kathy Bauman, Vice President Carol Kuhary, and Secretary-Treasurer Charlene Schulz.

Congratulations

Athletes Make It to State Competition.

In high school athletics the ultimate goal is the State Competition. This goal was realized by many of our athletes during this 1977-78 school year. Both the boys' and girls' ski teams captured the state titles and girls' curling placed second in the state. Our girls' basketball team made it to state also this year. Other individual athletes that earned their way to state in their respective sports are as follows: Sandy Hoff, Scott Oleson, Beth Schoeneman, Mike Timken. We are proud of all of our athletes and would like to thank them for an exciting year of competition.

In the summer between her Freshman-Sophomore year, Donna Folz discovered she had leukemia. She was an extremely quiet person, but yet had an inner strength that allowed her to cope with the problems of her illness. She lived the remainder of her life as normally as possible, with patience and little complaint. Donna died on April 24, 1977 at the age of 17. She would have graduated with the class of 1978, and we deeply regret that she could not receive her diploma with the rest of us.

1. John Burger grabs for a rebound. 2. A basketball game brings out different reactions. 3. Katie Houghton tests to see if the floors are comparable to a Sealy Posturpedic mattress. 4. The hum drum of schoolwork is replaced by pleasant dreams as Allen Wenzel catches forty winks. 5. Mr. Brenton graciously gives credit to a Tophatter soloist. 6. Vickie Yesse didn't always take her curling seriously. 7. Terri accepts her Homecoming Queen nomination. 8. Amy Gallagher resets the cafeteria news board. 9. Sometimes the bench was more interesting than the game! 10. Todd Walstrom, Jim Gabower, and Dave Newman bask in the light of "the pit".

The old building will certainly be torn down after this year, regardless of the plans for the present East. It was built in 1895, and by 1978 was in such bad shape that we sometimes wondered if it wouldn't fall on top of us. But it served us well all these years, and if anything, its creaky floors and inch thick varnish gave it character.

By the same token, Seniors must leave Wausau East, and move on to future goals. But occasionally they will look back and remember their lives as Wausau East students. They will remember both the work and the fun, the learning and the laughter.

In closing, the Wahiscan staff would like to say good-bye to the old building and to the Class of 1978. It was a great four years they had together, and we will miss them both.
